124 Enrolled In Summer Program

As the Title I Summer Program at Appomattox Primary School progresses into the fourth week we see students who have adjusted well to the school experience and teachers who are planning many enjoyable activities for their students.

Important goals of the program are to orient the young child to school and to help the child learn how to work and play in groups. Teachers skillfully plan activities that help children become more independent in caring for their own needs at school As students learn to share materials and take part in group activities they become better adjusted to group situations that exist as a part of every school day.

Teachers are utilizing both interclass and intraclass grouping patterns as they provide for individualization of pre-reading and math skills. Many materials have been selected and placed in classrooms especially for the Summer Program. Field trips provide first hand experiences

Landfill Containers Not Out As Yet

The container-type bins to be used in connection with the new Appomattox County Landfill operation are not yet out in the county, according to William Slagle, Administrator for the Landfill operation.

The containers, 100 in all, will not be placed throughout the county until the truck equipped to handle the containers arrives. This truck picks up the containers,dumps the trash and then sets the bins back in place. Permission for location from some landowners is yet to be obtained before all the sites are readied.

Until the containers are placed, citizens are asked to cooperate by taking trash, garbage and so forth to the landfill and dumping it in the proper place. At present the landfill is open on a twenty-four hour a day basis and will remain open as long as no problems arise. The employees are on duty five and one-half days a week at the landfill.

Old automobile tires or tires of any kind can no longer be picked up in the town garbage truck with your garbage. They must be taken to the landfill personally or picked up by the town only in a special trash pick-up.

The help and support of all the citizens of Appomattox County will be needed in order to make this new landfill work as it should and to make it beneficial to all people in the county. Please do your part in making this operation work smoothly.

A total of forty-five emergency calls were answered during the month of June by the Appomattox County Rescue Squad.

In response to these calls, volunteers spent 236¼ manhours and traveled a total of 2,067 miles. Forty hours were spent in a search for a missing man and twenty-eight hours were spent in a search for a missing eight-year old boy at Holiday Lake. Both were found and were in good condition.

What 100 Extra Jobs Mean To A Community

Summer Program at Park

From September through May, Mr. Tom Mattocks is a teacher in a nearby school, but during the summer Tom becomes one of the "living village" characters at the Park. Tom is one of four people working at the Park this summer who are playing roles of real or fictitious characters associated with the events of April 1865.

The fictitious character played by Tom Mattocks is a farmer and freeman. He witnessed the surrunder of the Southern Army and knows that life in the years following 1865 will be greatly different for himself and his people. Of course, he doesn't know what the future holds, but slavery is a thing of the past and freedom is the way of the future.

Tom spends his summer days helping around the village and talking with the modern visitors who wish to know what it was like to have been a black man in Appomattox in 1865. His views, along with the other three "living village" characters present interesting contacts on what the events of April 1865 meant to the people of this country at that time.

Rural Areas Show Gains

With the coming of a new industry, Thomasville Furniture Industries, to Appomattox, it is interesting to note what 100 extra jobs mean to a community, according to the NATION'S BUSINESS study made several months ago.

The new study analyzes the ripple effect of benefits to an area when employment rises. it shows that every new 100 factory workers in a county means: personal income - up $1,036,000 yearly; one more retail establishment; retail sales - up $565,000 per year; bank deposits - up $400,000; nonmanufacturing jobs - up 68;; population up 351, including 97 more families; and school enrollment up 79.

The new study included two parts. One compared changes in 10 rural counties which industrialized between 1960 and 1970 with 10 counties which did not. The other part studied metropolitan areas, measuring economic changes accompanying increases in total employment - both manufacturing and non-manufacturing.

Rural areas studied show greater gains, but that does not mean the employment impact is less in cities.

When a rural area industrializes, a visable relationship exists between increased manufacturing employment and greater nonmanufacturing employment for teachers, sales clerks, doctors and so on. In the rural counties, all economic

Town Dumps Are Closed

The Appomattox town dump and the Pamplin town dump were both officially closed to the public effective July 1, 1973 when the new Appomattox County Landfill began operations.

It is unlawful to use either of these facilities now and if anyone is caught using either of the dumps they will be prosecuted.

There are gates up to mark the closing of the old town dumps and it has been brought to our attention that some people are driving to the gates and dumping their garbage just over the gates. Your cooperation in this matter is needed in order that the new landfill facility can be used as required by law.

Bloodmobile Visit Falls Short of Quota

When the Red Cross Bloodmobile made its first visit of the new fiscal year to Appomattox on Tuesday, July 10th, only 84 units of blood were donated thus making the county fall short of its 116 unit quota by 32 units.

The quota for the year has been set at 465 of blood so the citizens of Appomattox County will have to really put out an effort at the next visit in order to make up for the shortage during the visit.

In the photo above, standing in the background, is Mrs. Dot Davidson who, after donating on Tuesday, received her five gallon pin. It seems that in this county, everyone sits back and waits for the same faithful donors to keep on giving blood at each visit. Think about it! Wouldn't it be terrible if you had an accident or needed surgery and would need a gallon or so of blood and none was available in the blood bank. This could happen if we do not really make every effort to see that our quota is reached at each visit.
